

Reflections

This is your opportunity to think back on what you have done and how you have done it.

The questions below will help you with your reflections.

Reflections on your development proposal

Did you or your team propose a valuable idea for the redesign of the space? What made it valuable?

What were the best features of your proposal? Why were these important features?

Were there any weaknesses in the development proposal? How could these weaknesses have been overcome?

Reflections on the process used to develop the proposal

If you did the project again, what do you think should have been done differently? Why would this change make the process more efficient?

If you worked in a design team did you enjoy it? Did your team work well together?

Reflections on your learning

What did you learn by working on this project? List 3 or 4 points and explain why you value them.

What did you learn about design processes?

What did you learn about renewable energy?
